

Merlin Securities Futures Disclaimer

Futures trading involve substantial risk. The valuation of futures may fluctuate, and as a result, clients may lose more than their original investment and in respect of these products as well as other products traded on margin, you may have to pay more later. You should not invest in such products unless satisfied that they are suitable for you.